The Top Misspelled Words in the USA

In honor of the National Spelling Bee and the kerfuffle over covfefe, we bring you the top misspelled word from each state in these United States, as reported by Google.

Google compiled a list of what word each state struggles with the most. What your state can't spell may surprise you.

What word does your state struggle at spelling more than any other word? Thanks to this report, we now know the answer.

Interestingly, there were two states - Connecticut and West Virginia - that found "supercalifragilisticexpialidocious," the fake word from "Mary Poppins," difficult to spell. Six states can't spell beautiful and four can't spell pneumonia. What's your nemesis?

Here's the full list:
Alabama: pneumonia
Alaska: schedule
Arizona: tomorrow
Arkansas: Chihuahua
California: beautiful
Colorado: tomorrow
Connecticut: supercalifragilisticexpialidocious
Delaware: hallelujah
Washington, D.C. : ninety
Florida: receipt
Georgia: gray
Hawaii: people
Idaho: quote

Illinois: appreciate
Indiana: hallelujah
Iowa: vacuum
Kansas: diamond
Kentucky: beautiful
Louisiana: giraffe
Maine: pneumonia
Maryland: special
Massachusetts: license
Michigan: pneumonia
Minnesota: beautiful
Mississippi: nanny
Missouri: maintenance
Montana: surprise
Nebraska: suspicious
Nevada: available
New Hampshire: difficult
New Jersey: twelve
New Mexico: bananas
New York: beautiful
North Carolina: angel
North Dakota: dilemma
Ohio: beautiful
Oklahoma: patient
Oregon: sense
Pennsylvania: sauerkraut
Rhode Island: liar
South Carolina: Chihuahua
South Dakota: college
Tennessee: chaos
Texas: maintenance
Utah: disease
Vermont: Europe
Virginia: delicious
Washington: pneumonia
West Virginia: supercalifragilisticexpialidocious
Wisconsin: Wisconsin
Wyoming: priority